INTRODUCTION

The implementation manual is offered as a guide to physicians and surgeons who will be conducting medical examinations for peace officer applicants that require certification by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council Peace Officer Professional Standards and Certification Act.

Effective December 1, 1998, the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council will be implementing new MEDICAL SCREENING GUIDELINES through assessing peace officer applicants. A new Medical History Statement Form has been developed to be completed prior to the medical examination. The applicant must be examined, prior to employment, by either a physician or surgeon licensed to practice medicine in Kentucky or by a physician or surgeon authorized to practice medicine in accordance with the rules and regulations of the United States Armed Forces to help determine the applicant's fitness for carrying out the physical requirements of peace officer. The examining physician is required to record the results of this examination on the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council Medical Examination Report, Form G-1 (Medical Examination Report) and return it to the agency requesting the examination.

POST-OFFER MEDICAL REVIEW

The physician shall assess each candidate on a case-by-case basis to evaluate whether the candidate can, with or without reasonable accommodations, perform the essential job functions of a peace officer for the agency that is seeking to employ the candidate.

Upon the conclusion of the medical review, such physician shall render his or her medical opinion to the employing agency as to whether or not the candidate can perform the essential job functions of the position, noting all relevant medical information.

The examining physician shall complete the Medical Examination Report Form G-1 based upon his/her medical review of the candidate. The existence of a potentially disqualifying condition will automatically prevent the qualified physician from recommending that the candidate is able to perform the essential job functions of a peace officer position. A qualified physician is one who is licensed to practice in Kentucky. Nothing herein shall preclude the physician from noting the existence of any other potentially disqualifying conditions not specifically set forth in this manual, which in the opinion of the physician, may render the candidate unable to perform the essential functions of an entry level peace officer position.

The qualified physician shall evaluate whether or not, in his or her professional judgment, each candidate can, with or without reasonable accommodations, perform the essential job functions of a peace officer based upon the results of the clinical tests as set forth in this manual and based upon other relevant medical criteria.

Based upon the recommendations of the qualified physician, the law enforcement agency wishing to employ the candidate shall render the final decision as to whether or not the conditional offer of employment shall be revoked.

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS

It shall be the affirmative responsibility of each law enforcement agency to assess the type(s) of reasonable accommodations which may be requested by an applicant and necessary to allow the applicant to perform the essential job functions of a peace officer for such agency and to provide such necessary reasonable accommodations to a qualified candidate with a recognized disability under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), provided however, that nothing herein shall be construed to require the provision of accommodations if doing so will impose an undue hardship on the employing agency or a direct threat to safety of the applicant or others. An accommodation may not be reasonable if it abolishes or diminishes an essential job function. An agency should consult with its legal counsel when making any determination on a recognized disability or a requested accommodation.

MEDICAL SCREENING GUIDELINES FOR THE CERTIFICATION OF PEACE OFFICERS (Potentially Excludable Conditions)

The following medical conditions, although, explicitly related to one or more essential tasks do not necessarily comprise an exclusive list. If their examining physician identifies a condition not included below which he or she feels could adversely affect the ability of the candidate to perform any or all of the essential job functions of a peace officer, that condition should be noted.

Secondly, because many of the tasks listed below involve physical exertion and danger in their performance, we ask that the physician, to the extent possible, assess on an individualized basis whether or not the candidate is able to perform the essential job functions of the position safely, and whether or not his or her inability's or limitations may pose a "direct threat to the health and safety of himself/herself or others." As Equal Employment Opportunity Commission guidance suggests, "this assessment shall be based on a reasonable medical judgment that relies on the most current medical knowledge and/or the best available objective evidence." The examining physician should consider, in identifying a "direct threat," whether or not "performing the particular functions of a job would result in a high probability of substantial harm" to the individual or others.

MINIMUM COMPONENTS OF THE CLINICAL TESTS

The qualified physician shall conduct a medical history (based on review of the applicant's completed Medical History Statement - Form G2) and administer a medical examination, which includes, but is not limited to, the following components:

- 1) Urinalysis (Dipstick);
- 2) Tuberculosis (Mantoux); and
- 3) Electrocardiogram (ECG) (Resting), only if indicated by history or if resting pulse is less than 50 or greater than 100.

PEACE OFFICER'S ESSENTIAL JOB FUNCTIONS

INSTRUCTIONS: The following are the "essential job functions" of peace officers in Kentucky, as determined by the Kentucky Law Enforcement Council. The successful applicant must be able to perform ALL of the essential job functions of a peace officer, generally unassisted and at a pace and level of performance consistent with the actual job performance requirements. This requires a high level of physical ability to include vision, hearing, speaking, flexibility and strength.

1. Effect an arrest, forcibly if necessary, using handcuffs and other restraints; subdue resisting suspects using maneuvers and weapons and resort to the use of hands and feet and other approved weapons in self-defense.
2. Prepare investigative and other reports, including sketches, using appropriate grammar, symbols and mathematical computations.
3. Exercise independent judgment in determining when there is reasonable suspicion to detain, when probable cause exists to search and arrest and when force may be used and to what degree.
4. Operate a law enforcement vehicle during both the day and night; in emergency situations involving speeds in excess of posted limits, in congested traffic and in unsafe road conditions caused by factors such as fog, smoke, rain, ice and snow.
5. Communicate effectively and coherently over law enforcement radio channels while initiating and responding to radio communications.
6. Gather information in criminal investigations by interviewing and obtaining the statements of victims, witnesses, suspects and confidential informers.

7. Pursue fleeing suspects and perform rescue operations which may involve quickly entering and exiting law enforcement patrol vehicles; lifting, carrying and dragging heavy objects; climbing over and pulling up oneself over obstacles; jumping down from elevated surfaces; climbing through openings; jumping over obstacles, ditches and streams; crawling in confined areas; balancing on uneven or narrow surfaces and using body force to gain entrance through barriers.
8. Load, unload, aim and fire from a variety of body positions handguns, shotguns and other agency firearms under conditions of stress that justify the use of deadly force and at levels of proficiency prescribed in certification standards.
9. Perform searches of people, vehicles, buildings and large outdoor areas which may involve feeling and detecting objects, walking for long periods of time, detaining people and stopping suspicious vehicles and persons.
10. Conduct visual and audio surveillance for extended periods of time.
11. Engage in law enforcement patrol functions that include such things as working rotating shifts, walking on foot patrol and physically checking the doors and windows of buildings to ensure they are secure.
12. Effectively communicate with people, including juveniles, by giving information and directions, mediating disputes and advising of rights and processes.
13. Demonstrate communication skills in court and other formal settings.
14. Detect and collect evidence and substances that provide the basis of criminal offenses and infractions and that indicate the presence of dangerous conditions.
15. Endure verbal and mental abuse when confronted with the hostile views and opinions of suspects and other people encountered in an antagonistic environment.
16. Perform rescue functions at accidents, emergencies and disasters to include directing traffic for long periods of time, administering emergency medical aid, lifting, dragging and carrying people away from dangerous situations and securing and evacuating people from particular areas.
17. Process and transport prisoners and committed mental patients using handcuffs and other appropriate restraints.
18. Put on and operate a gas mask in situations where chemical munitions are being deployed.

19. Extinguish small fires by using a fire extinguisher and other appropriate means.
20. Read and comprehend legal and non-legal documents, including the preparation and processing of such documents as citations, affidavits and warrants.
21. Process arrested suspects to include taking their photographs and obtaining a legible set of inked fingerprint impressions.

PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS

Since peace officers are required to enforce the law and they are exposed to certain temptations to show favoritism, corruption, or unlawful monetary gain, it is a "business necessity" that officers exhibit a history and characteristics of honesty, reliability, and ability to manage personal finances, interpersonal skill, and integrity.

Additionally, peace officers are frequently placed in a position of physical and mental stress. Therefore, a history of mental or physical disability may be grounds for denying an application; or, these factors might be a consideration in the hiring process. Applicants posing a substantial risk to themselves, other officers, and the public are at substantial disadvantage in the hiring process.

MEDICAL SCREENING GUIDELINES (Potentially Disqualifying Conditions)

SECTION ONE – EYES AND VISION

THE EXAMINING PHYSICIAN IS TO NOTE ANY CONDITION, WHICH MAY INTERFERE WITH THE CANDIDATE'S ABILITY TO PERFORM THE ESSENTIAL TASKS OF THE JOB IN QUESTION.
